WILLIAMSTOWN.

The grange is preparing the drama of "Neighbor Jackwood," to be given perhaps a little later.

The benefit that had been planned to be given Randall Wood, on Monday of next week, January 17, by the grange, has been postponed unexpectedly, but necessarily. It will, however, come later.

A public installation of Williamstown lodge, No. 64, L. O. O. F., and Fraternity Rebekah lodge, No. 50, will be held in L. O. O. F. hall Friday evening, January 14. All Old Fellows and Rebekahs, with their families, are cordially invited to be present.

Dr. Elam C. Lewis, a highly respected citizen of Rutland and a son of the late Jonathan Lewis, Esq., of our town, is now in his 84th year, and a remarkably well preserved man in every way. We have just been told of his good health at this time.

Scottman Angus McLeod, who has "made his mark" here as a good blacksmith, we think, has been compelled to give up his shop because of the condition of his eyes. He has been to the Victoria hospital in Montreal to consult a noted eye specialist, who will soon operate on the eye for an inside cataract. Good results are looked for by the operation. Robert Mackie succeeds Mr. McLeod here.

We have been greatly interested in late in learning of the literary work of our new neighbor, A. N. Fellows, in the past. We had looked upon mathematics and accounting as his special line, but some years ago he put out a small grammar for beginners, in the form of a catechism, that is published by a large schoolbook publishing company in New York City, and that this company proposes to retain on its list of schoolbooks. He is the author, too, of a little booklet, full of good sense, telling "How to Obtain and Keep a Good Situation." He has published "Business Letter Writing and Spelling," and "Bookkeeping and Business Manual." He began the work of teaching in his "teens," and has taught years in New York and New Jersey, as well as in this, his native state, we think.

We have come to expect wise plans and decisions from the members of our Ladies' Village Improvement society, and one of such plans and decisions was to try to interest the public in their work by inviting it to their rooms in the Beckett block on Monday evening last. There was a generous response to this invitation, for between 80 and 90 persons assembled there. A program of instrumental music, furnished by Mrs. Margaret P. Spencer, organist, and son, violinist; Mrs. A. N. Fellows, organist; W. E. Randall, cornetist; a recitation by Mrs. Oliver Dickinson, and a collection, all preceded and followed by a delightful social time, making a real letter evening indeed.

WAITSFIELD.

Mrs. Abbie Taylor and Miss Alice Bushnell are on the sick list.

Quite a large number from this town attend the Dairywomen's association in Burlington.

Several scholars are detained at home on account of sickness; on the list are Ella Marshall, Harold Martin, Florence Berry, Irene Corsey, Ruth Jones, Charles Jones and Orman Tucker.

The L. O. O. F. and Rebekah lodges had their annual installation and supper Tuesday evening. The officers are: N. G. J. A. Smith; V. G. Merrill Childs; P. G. F. H. Bulkeley; secretary, A. E. Farris; F. S. G. W. Wallis; treasurer, F. H. Sawyer.

The Woodmen organized Ball Mountain camp of Watsfield on Thursday evening of last week. The officers are: Consul, P. N. Newman; clerk, C. F. Kery; escort, Herbert Smith; watchman, E. L. Marshall; sentry, James McCullough.

The members of Ainsworth post, G. A. R., had their annual dinner in the vestry of the Congregational church last Saturday. A beautiful dinner and a general good time was enjoyed by a company of over 90, consisting of the veterans and their friends. May the old soldiers have many such happy gatherings.

The annual meeting of the Congregational society was held on Wednesday, January 12. The report of the trustees showed the society to be in a healthy condition financially, as the resources exceeded the liabilities by over $62. The officers elected were: Clerk, R. D. Fisher; treasurer, H. N. Bushnell; W. E. Berry, secretary; collector, Dwight Ward; Josiah Babcock, music committee; Miss Alice Bushnell, Mrs. H. W. Belden, Mrs. R. H. Jones. The ladies of the Home circle elected the following officers: President, Mrs. G. W. Wallis; vice-president, Mrs. A. W. Bigelow; treasurer, Miss Lulu Jones; secretary, Mrs. Bert Campbell.

Saved at Death's Door.

The door of death seemed ready to open for Murray W. Ayers of Transit Bridge, N. Y., when his life was wonderfully saved. "I was in a dreadful condition," he writes. "My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, emaciated from losing 40 pounds, growing weaker daily, violent liver trouble, pulling me down to death in spite of doctors. Then—at matchless medicine—Electric Bitters—cured me. I regained the 40 pounds lost and now am well and strong." For all stomach, liver and kidney troubles, they're supreme. 50c at the Red Cross Pharmacy.

Tired all the time;
Weary and worn out night and day;
Back aches; side aches;
All on account of the kidneys.
Must help them at their work.

A Barre citizen shows you how:—
W. W. McAnley, 187 Seminary street, Barre, Vt., says: "I took all kinds of medicine supposed to be good for kidney trouble, but did not find relief. The pain in my left kidney was severe, and I could not stoop to pick up anything without having sharp twinges in the small of my back. I was very restless and across in the morning feeling tired and miserable. Damp weather always made me worse, and finally I became so bad that I could only walk a short distance. It was then that I began using Doan's Kidney Pills, procured from E. A. Brown's drug store. They helped me from the first, relieving the backache and strengthening my kidneys. I used in all three boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills and can honestly say that I never took any other remedy that benefited me so greatly."

WANT A BETHEL CONCERN.

Rutland Is After the Fisher Tannery Business.

Rutland, Jan. 13.—A new industry for Rutland is quite within the bounds of possibility if the Rutland Improvement league acts on a suggestion thrown out by Alderman A. W. Billado, in an interview. The new industry is the Fisher Tannery company of Bethel.

This industry is one of long standing in Bethel but last summer it was burned to the ground and has not been rebuilt. The company has been negotiating with the Bethel authorities with a view to rebuilding its plant and is asking $50000 bonds. While its request has not been definitely turned down, it is understood that the company is not satisfied with the dilatory methods of the citizens there and Mr. Billado is convinced that a fair offer from Rutland would be entertained by the company.

Rutland can offer better railroad facilities for the industry than Bethel and there is an abundance of suitable sites available throughout the city. The one necessity of such an industry is plenty of water, not necessarily pure, but water in large quantities which is easily obtainable. Mr. Billado suggests a site on East creek, near Robertson's coal yards, but there are others just as desirable elsewhere in the city.

The Fisher Tannery company is an old firm and usually employs about 40 men. Doubtless it is something worth while after and it seems to be up to the improvement league to look into the matter.

IS IN GOOD CONDITION.

Annual Meeting of Caledonia Fair Ground Association Yesterday.

St. Johnsbury, Jan. 13.—The annual meeting of the Caledonia Fair Ground Association was held here yesterday morning. The report of the treasurer, Charles G. Bradley of this place, showed that the total receipts of the past year were $8,115.23. Although this shows a cash deficit, the expenditures were made for the erection of new buildings and for permanent repairs on the old and the directors consider the association to be in a good condition.

The following directors were elected for the ensuing year: W. A. Ricker, T. R. Stiles, A. J. Higgins, H. A. Stanley, L. W. Hastings, G. C. Curry, all of St. Johnsbury; J. B. Stevens of Danville; T. A. Mearns of Ryegate, and W. I. Powers and T. N. Veil of Lyndonville.

As soon as the directors organize, arrangements will be made for the next fair which, it is expected will be held during the first or second week in September.

PROTECTION FOR TREES.

Cornstalks and Wire Netting Shield Them From Vermin.

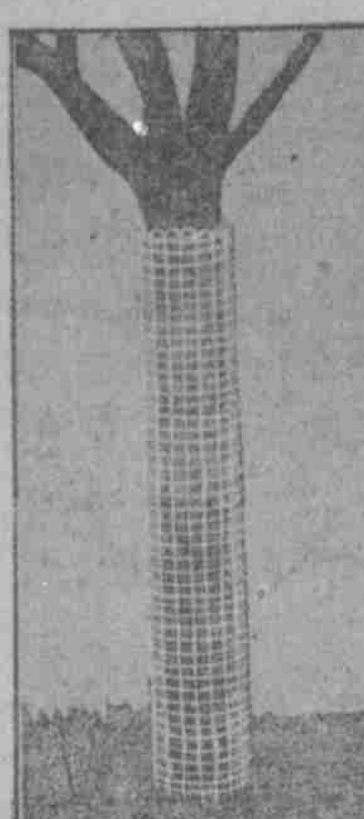

One of the most timely and useful bulletins seen in a long time is a recent pamphlet issued by the Ohio experiment station, Wooster. F. B. Ballou gives practical methods of protecting young trees from the attacks of mice, rabbits and other vermin. As all fruit growers know, these little animals often cause great loss by gnawing the bark from the base of the tree.

CORNSTALK PROTECTOR.

tree up. The damage is usually worse in hard winters, when the natural food of these animals is scarce. They have been known to work in open winters and to gnaw completely some of our best young trees. Mice are worse, as the hunter puts most of the rabbits out of commission. There is more damage done in sod than in open ground, as the mice like to nest in the grass.

One of the surest ways to invite disaster is to leave a mulch close around the trunk of the tree. The mice will work under it. If there is a bare space for a few inches around the tree there is usually little danger, for the mice rarely cross a bare place to work at the bark. In an ordinary winter one finds a mound of earth or coal ashes almost a foot high at the base of the tree ample protection. With deep snow this often fails, as the mice sometimes work under the snow if there is a nest near by. With rabbits, of course, this mounding will not answer.

Mr. Ballou gives a number of plans for protecting the tree trunk. His pictures are so clear that little description is needed. The object is to put something around the tree trunk which will keep the vermin away. If rabbits abound this protection should be high enough to prevent their reaching over it when standing on their hind legs. Perhaps the simplest plan is shown in the first cut. Here ordinary cornstalks are used—cut to the proper length, placed around the trunk and tied with wire or string. Rabbits do not fear the stalks off. Mice would gnaw them, and to circumvent them a roll of wire netting can be used. This is put at the base of the tree outside the stalks.

Checkrein Abandoned.

When a horse straddles he is far less likely to go down if his head is left free. In England, where they are far ahead of us in everything pertaining to horses, the checkrein has been abolished, the last survivor being that of the artillery and commissariat trains of the British army, the change having been made by Sir George Bingham, the late commander in chief, and he testifies to the beneficial results attending it.

Farm Abandonment Ended.

The age of farm abandonment is practically at an end, for the farmer has solved the problem of how to make a living for himself and family and at the same time accumulate a good bank account from the products of a small tract of land. New conditions require new methods, and this applies with greater force to farming than to any other form of productive industry.
